Discovery Gateway: The Children's Museum of Utah Unveils New Exhibit Sponsored by Ken Garff Automotive

Children's Museum Unveils the New and Improved Ken Garff Service Station on Friday, February 27.

Salt Lake City, UT – Discovery Gateway: The Children's Museum of Utah's beloved kid-sized service station exhibit has been renovated thanks to a sponsorship from Ken Garff Automotive Group. The new Ken Garff Service Station will be revealed to families on Friday, February 27 at 5 pm.

The exhibit features a reinterpretation of the museum's iconic shiny red jeep and updated interactive opportunities. Once an open-air vehicle that was part of a Lagoon amusement park ride, Discovery Gateway's exhibits team worked with a fiberglass fabricator to update the jeep with a covered top and open hood.

Children and families will now have many more opportunities for collaborative play within the new exhibit. They can role play being on a Ken Garff mechanic team by pretending to check the engine under the hood, change the oil, and replace the fluids. Additional kid-friendly tools will be available, and children will now be able to roll under the vehicle to make sure it's running in tip top condition.

Fuel and air service will continue to be available with the addition of educational information to support Discovery Gateway's STEM learning initiatives. Children will be able to learn about how exactly the gas and air pumps work at the station.

"Ken Garff is happy to support Discovery Gateway and is proud to promote the education and development for children in our state," explained Matt Jensen, Ken Garff Automotive Marketing Director.

The Ken Garff Service Station overhaul is part of a months-long rehabilitation and renovation plan that includes updates to the museum's much-loved exhibits. After more than 2-million visitors since opening in 2006, museum staff and patrons can look forward to a fresh new way for families to play together at Discovery Gateway: The Children's Museum of Utah.
